SLIFER HOUSE FRONT PORCH INTRODUCES FRONT PORCH COUNTRY BAND TO THE COUNTRY FREE CONCERT IS BAND'S MOTHER'S DAY GIFT TO UNION COUNTY

Lewisburg, Pa. – The front porch of the Slifer House in Lewisburg is the opening venue for The Front Porch Country Band as they will present Union County residents with a free Mother's Day performance on May 12th at 3:00 p.m.

The open-air concert will feature original music from the band's world-wide simulcast tribute broadcast and album, "AMERICA STANDING TALL – THE AMERICAN TRILOGY," as well as never-before-heard songs from the band's upcoming album, "Somebody Tonight."

The Front Porch Country Band performs "Original American Country" music – all of it created by the band itself. The songs will be performed live for the first time by these six Susquehanna Valley recording artists. Their music showcases the talents of lead vocalists Johnny Jolin, Alison Rupert, and Kim Reichley, and the multi-faceted instrumental skills of Rick Buck, Joseph Paul, and Richard Rupert. Their songs include the full range of contemporary country styles from "hot rockin' country" to beautiful country ballads.
