Members of a country group from Union County will soon take their music to China. The Front Porch Country Band leaves on May 2nd.

The band from the Lewisburg area was invited to play in China by the US-China Foundation, an agency that promotes cultural exchange between the two countries. "We're playing in three cities, Beijing, Shanghai and Ning Bo," said singer and bass player Kimbo Reichley. "We'll be doing about six shows and so we'll have some down time to be a tourist, too, so that's going to be kind of neat."

Members of the Front Porch Country Band have put some of their songs on the internet. They got more than a million hits last year, and that popularity caught the attention of the US-China Foundation. "They love country music in China so I think they're going to be really excited. I think there's going to be thousands of people at the shows," said band member Johnny Jolin.

The Front Porch Country Band will spend 15 days in China before returning home to Union County.
